

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. The Indiana Telephone Privacy law improved my family/home time by reducing dramatically the number of telephone solicitations we receive. Prior to the implementation of the Indiana law, we received between 12 and 15 unwanted solicitation calls per month. We now receive less than 5 calls per month. Everyone has a right to privacy in their own home, and the Indiana law has provided that privacy. Please do NOT enact any regulations that provide less protection.
